

INTRODUCTION TO MISSIONS CANDIDACY

This is the beginning point for anyone who is interested in exploring the possibility of cross-cultural ministry through Grace. Our goal in this initial phase is to help you determine what is your particular part in sharing God's love with the world.

During this stage, God may make it clear through His Spirit that you are not to go. That is equally valid affirmation of His calling on your life; it is simply another direction than you may have anticipated. Your heart to serve God is evident by the fact that you've come this far in the process. This is not about making or missing the mark. Rather it is about affirmation, confirmation, and direction for your life and ministry.

We anticipate that this stage will take you anywhere from one to two years to finish. Throughout this process, there will be ongoing dialogue with your coach, who will help you to assess God's leading on where, how and with whom you might make your best contribution. If God has full time cross-cultural ministry in mind for you; we are confident that He will confirm that to all of our hearts as we live and minister together.
